the french 75

10

gin, house sour mix, a dash of simple syrup, champagne.

Named after the French 75mm field gun, model of 1897. A piece of heavy artillery that was the mainstay of World War I, and its recoil system made for soft, smooth operation. It was the first technical weaponry advance in the twentieth century, and its use continued into World War II.

the georgia mint julep

sugared mint leaves, dash of water, cognac or brandy, peach brandy.

One of the oldest cocktails in the southern states dating as far back as the eighteenth century. It's the drink of tradition at the Kentucky Derby on the first Saturday in May. Refreshing and most definitely a classic.

the room at twelve zombie

pineapple juice, house sour mix, pomegranate puree, brown sugar, fernet branca, spiced rum, and white rum.

This legendary drink was created at Don the Beachcomber restaurant in Hollywood reportedly as a hangover cure. It has everything but the kitchen sink in it. Garnished with fresh mint and pineapple.

the algonquin cocktail

bourbon, dry vermouth, pineapple juice.

the fred collins fizz

bourbon, simple syrup, lemon juice, orange curacao, lemonade.

This recipe has been around since the early nineteenth century. It's a version of the Tom Collins originally known as the John Collins named after head waiter in a London hotel. Some would say that it's the earliest recipe for a Lynchburg Lemonade.
